

INTRODUCING THE TEACHER TRAINING TRIFECTA

At Scholar System, we employ a unique model of professional learning known as the Teacher Training Trifecta.

Our three pillars: Inspiration, Connection, and Application are woven seamlessly throughout each session, melding hearts, minds, and action – just as we would want our students to experience in classrooms.

Why is the Trifecta Different?

The delivery framework for our Professional Learning sessions supports educators in understanding and applying engaging, evidence-based best practices for transforming school culture and student lives.

Inspiration

Students won't care what you know until they know you care. Creating Systems of Prosperity begins with educators understanding the transformative power they hold to impact student lives. Our speakers deliver a message of hope, motivation, and purpose to educators. We encourage self-reflection and support educators in reframing their mindsets towards asset-based actions that unlock opportunities for all students.

Connection

Prosperous systems are focused on success but are also joyful. Every member of a school community should be cared for, respected, and appreciated—including adults. In our learning sessions, we provide frequent opportunities for participants to learn about each other and laugh on their journey towards a shared vision.

Application

Nothing will change for students unless practice changes. In our sessions, participants experience our frameworks and classroom strategies firsthand as learners, before deconstructing practices through the lens of educators. Our application tools can be applied immediately.
